The Association for X and Y Chromosome Variations (AXYS) is dedicated to addressing the needs of those affected by one or more extra X and/or Y chromosomes. We are focused on sharing knowledge, offering support and initiating action to help improve lives of individuals and families.

X and Y chromosome variations occur in 1:500 people. They are common genetic conditions, but often go undiagnosed. The most common variations involve a trisomy, which means three sex chromosomes instead of the typical two. This includes 47, XXY (Klinefelter syndrome), 47, XYY, (Jacobs syndrome) and 47, XXX (Trisomy X).

In addition, there are a number of other X and/or Y conditions where the person has 48 or 49 chromosomes. These include 48, XXYY, (XXYY syndrome), 48, XXXY, 48, XXXX, (Tetrasomy X) and 48, XYYY; also 49, XXXXY, 49, XXXXX, (Pentasomy X), 49, XXXYY, 49, XXXXY and 49, XYYYY. Some individuals may have two cell lines, which is called mosaicism, such as 46, XY/47, XXY.

The AXYS Family Conference brings children and adults with these chromosome variations, their families and caregivers together with advocates, community organizations, parent group leaders, clinical and research professionals including genetic counselors, geneticists, and endocrinologists.
